

Boring Middle School "Proud to Help Project"

Borings' Positive Behavior Plan has proven in the past years to be very successful at creating a positive environment for students to learn. Statistics show that students improve their behavior immensely through this program. They are learning about making positive choices for themselves that help them succeed now and will continue to help them in the future.

As explained in Boring Middle School Newsletter students earn UR GREAT Awards for positive behavior. They in turn, reward themselves and may purchase activities, such as a lunch fast pass, weekly privilege drawing, I-pod lunch, pep assemblies, lunch outside, lunch with a teacher, and homework coupon. (The previous mentioned items were created by the Positive Behavior Team as items the students would enjoy and not be costly for the school to fund.) The students may also purchase popcorn on Friday, ice-cream, holiday-grams, candy, and end of the year drawing prizes. Students learn from their selection experience and understand in order to purchase certain items they must save their UR GREAT Awards and must behave positively in order to receive UR GREATS. In the past the merchandise for the weekly, monthly, and yearly drawings has been funded by the money we receive from paper recycling. This year, the Positive Behavior Team created more individual incentives that they feel will motivate and reach more of our students. The difficulty however is, we no longer receive money for the paper we recycle, as the price of recycled paper is down.

Boring Middle Schools' "Proud to Help Project" has been created so that we may be able to continue this successful incentive program at BMS. If you or a business you are aware of would like to help the continued success of Borings' Positive Behavior Program, please let us know. All donations are tax deductible.
