As parent or legal guardian I grant permission for my son or daughter to access computer services such as electronic mail and the Internet (Ortrail Net). I understand that there are guidelines regarding computer access, and because some materials on the Internet may be objectionable, I accept responsibility for setting and conveying standards for my daughter or son to follow when selecting, sharing or exploring media. Computers belong to the school, and students are allowed to use them for learning purposes. School staff may examine computers, use of E-mail, and Internet usage at any time without notice. In consideration for my child being allowed to use the computer at school, I release the district and its employees and affiliated institutions from any claims and damages arising from my child's use or inability to use the system.

We Understand:

- that the purpose of the Ortrail Net (Internet, E-mail, technology) is educational.
- that if the network is used inappropriately, the school administrator has the right to determine appropriate discipline, which may include suspension or revocation of network access.
- that if we're aware of a possible violation by another student or adult, we must inform a teacher or administrator.
- that an adult must be in the room for us to access the World Wide Web or E-mail.
- there may be additional requirements regarding use of the network (i.e. Internet licenses).
